ABSTRACT

This is the first national directory of public and nonpublic secondary schools which offered vocational curriculums during the 1971-72 school year. Information for the directory was compiled from data provided through cooperative arrangements with the 50 states and the District of Columbia, Canal Zone, Guam, Puerto Rico, Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands and the Virgin Islands. Data were submitted for all schools with one or more vocational curriculums in Grades 9, 10, 11, and 12. Post-secondary and adult vocational education programs offered through secondary schools were included. To reduce the size of the volume, coding of certain data was used in the directory listings. Arrangement of the data, definition of terms, code system, and abbreviations used are explained. Summary tables of schools by type and by control are also presented. The directory lists schools by State or area with address, vocational enrollment, and curriculums offered. A companion directory of post-secondary schools is available as VT 020 706 in this issue.

FOREWORD

Major national attention is focused today upon career education, which aims, at the elementary-school level, to acquaint children with the diversity of career possibilities and encourage selection of one or more that interest them, and, at the secondary-school level, to help students develop marketable skills in a chosen field or fields. Vocational education in secondary schools is therefore an important component of career education. This first national directory of public and nonpublic secondary schools which offer vocational curriculums provides a comprehensive picture of this field.

Information for the directory was acquired with the assistance of the various States--usually through the statistical research area of the State Department of Education or units which administer vocational education. As they reported in detail upon 17,460 schools, these coordinators faced an immense task and their effective work was the key to the success of this project.

In keeping with our desire to avoid additional surveys, much of the information came from reports which schools had already submitted to their State agencies.

The directory was compiled under the supervision of Nicholas A. Osso of the Adult and Vocational Education Surveys Branch of the National Center for Educational Statistics. As two directories were developed in tandem, he worked closely with Evelyn R. Kay who supervised the development of the Directory of Postsecondary Schools with Occupational Curriculums.

State data from forms, cards, or tapes were converted to a standard format--a formidable task--by W. Craig Rose and Stanley Kwaczala.

Planning assistance on this project came from a number of sources. The most immediate source of assistance was provided by a U.S. Office of Education planning group including Sherrill D. McMillen, Katherine K. Wallman, and Leroy A. Cornelsen of the Bureau of Adult, Vocational, and Technical Education; Leslie W. Ross of the Bureau of Higher Education; Anita V. Turner of the Bureau of Elementary and Secondary Education; and George E. Klinkhamer of the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped.

As in most first-time projects, errors may be anticipated, including schools inadvertently omitted. Since only schools in existence in 1970 and 1971 were reported, new schools are not included. We would welcome comments on omissions or errors detected by school officials.

Current plans call for this survey with its resulting directory to be repeated periodically, to update information and to indicate trends.

INTRODUCTION

The National Center for Educational Statistics (NCES) of the U. S. Office of Education, in cooperation with coordinators in the States and other areas, for the first time has compiled and published a comprehensive listing of secondary schools offering occupational curriculums during the 1971-72 school year. This directory and a companion directory of post-secondary schools are designed to respond to the requests for more information on the public and nonpublic institutions which offer occupational or vocational education programs.

These directories are intended to help manpower and educational planners by providing information on schools and their programs, to assist students and their counselors by identifying institutions offering training for particular jobs, and to help researchers by providing a list of schools from which samples may be drawn to answer some of the most pressing questions facing vocational education.

SOURCE OF DATA

Information for this directory was provided through cooperative arrangements with the States and other areas (Canal Zone, Guam, Puerto Rico, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, and the Virgin Islands). Each Chief State School Officer or State Chief Vocational Education Officer or equivalent was asked to nominate a coordinator to work with NCES on this project. Every State or other area nominated such an officer. Later, because of workload or difficulty with contractual arrangements, a private contractor was retained in each of five States to provide information for the directory. Names of the individuals who provided data for the States and other areas appear in appendix A.

State coordinators or contractors participated in a series of regional planning conferences in the summer of 1971. In September 1971, NCES sent forms and final instructions for collecting, editing, and transmitting information to the States. Each State had complete flexibility in developing data for the secondary school directory: it could obtain this information from existing records, make a special survey, or combine the two approaches. NCES urged maximum use of data already in State files.

Each State coordinator was sent a preprinted form for each public school offering grades 9 or above in the State. Names of these schools came from the Elementary-Secondary Universe file maintained by NCES. Blank forms were provided for reporting new schools not in the file.

Information was to be provided on all schools, both public and nonpublic, which offered one or more vocational curriculums in grades 9, 10, 11, and 12. Some elementary, junior high, and certain combination schools reported in this directory offered grade 9 occupational programs. Postsecondary and adult vocational education programs offered through secondary schools were also to be included.

All but five of the States used the preprinted forms to initiate acquisition of the data. Six States provided machine tapes, 13 provided punched cards, and the rest (including the other areas) submitted survey forms.

ARRANGEMENT OF DATA

Schools are presented alphabetically by State, city or post office, and school name. Within each State, all public schools are listed before the nonpublic schools. A three-column page and coding of certain data reduced the directory to a more manageable size.

The following illustration identifies the data for each school as presented in this publication.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

The following definitions used in the survey are taken either from the Standard Terminology for Curriculum and Instruction in Local and State School Systems (Handbook VI) or the Federal Register, vol. 35, No. 4, Jan. 7, 1970, Part II, Rules and Regulations, title 45 (Public Welfare), ch. 1 (Office of Education), pt. 102 (State Vocational Education Programs).

Vocational education -- educational instruction below the baccalaureate level designed: (a) to prepare individuals for gainful employment in recognized occupations and/or new and emerging occupations; (b) to assist individuals in making informed and meaningful occupational choices; and (c) to upgrade or update those individuals already in an occupational field

Occupational curriculum -- instructional activities designed to prepare students for a group of recognized occupations having many similarities

Secondary school -- a school offering any of grades 9 through 12

Combination school -- a school combining any span of grades 9 through 12 plus postsecondary (beyond grade 12) but below the baccalaureate degree

Regular or comprehensive secondary school -- a school with several departments (e.g., English, science, vocational) offering a diversified program to meet pupil needs

Specialized vocational secondary school -- a school at the secondary level used exclusively or principally for the provision of vocational technical education to persons available for full-time study

Combination specialized secondary and technical/vocational school -- a school used exclusively for the provision of vocational education to persons available for full-time study, who are in or have left high school

Area vocational school -- a public school approved by the State Board for Vocational Education to provide instruction in occupations for residents of an area usually larger than a local administrative unit.

QUALIFICATION OF DATA

The schools listed in this directory, the vocational education programs, and the enrollment shown for individual schools are as reported by the States to NCES.

States were asked to report the actual enrollments in schools and in vocational programs as of October 1, 1971. For a variety of reasons, this was not possible in 17 States. Thirteen of these States provided data on the 1970-71 school year: Arkansas, California, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Ohio, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Virginia. Three States provided data for the entire 1971-72 school year: New York, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania. One State, Oklahoma, provided school enrollment for the 1971-72 year and vocational enrollment for 1970-71.

Special techniques were used in handling the data in seven States. In every case, this was a joint decision made with the State coordinator.

Alaska

- Vocational education enrollment in the secondary schools was computed by NCES using the full-time equivalency formula provided by the State coordinator.

Florida

- Those schools listed without offerings are schools offering vocational education courses under the title of diversified occupations.

Nebraska

- Vocational education enrollment was reported for only those schools which received State reimbursement for programs offered.

New York

- The Board of Cooperative Education Services schools, which serve several districts, were placed in the district of their post office address. Those BOCES schools with multiple names were abbreviated by using the first four letters of each part.

North Carolina

- Enrollments in vocational education were obtained from school district records at the State education department and prorated to schools by NCES. Since students throughout the State were being transferred by court orders, differences in school enrollments may be expected.

Oklahoma

- Total school enrollment is the 1971-72 average daily attendance while the vocational enrollment is the 1970-71 actual number of students.

Oregon

- Vocational education enrollment was reported for only schools which received State reimbursement for programs offered. Schools listed in Oregon without offerings are schools offering vocational education courses under the title of diversified occupations.

CODE LIST OF OFFERINGS

To reduce the size of the directory, a code system was developed to present information on the actual curriculum offered by a school. An alphabetical designation was used for each vocational education subject matter area listed in Handbook VI and a 2-digit numerical designation was used for each principal segment of subject matter. Thus, "H" was used for the subject matter area of Health Occupations. Within each area, such as Health Occupations, numerical designations were used for the principal segments; e.g., Medical Laboratory Assisting used the number "07." When combined, the coded symbol for Medical Laboratory Assisting is "H07."

All forms were edited to place curriculums offered by schools under the appropriate heading. Following is a complete list of codes utilized for this purpose.

SUMMARY TABLES

Summary totals for the institutions presented in this directory appear in tables 1 through 4. Table 1 provides details on the types of public secondary schools. Of the 16,887 schools offering vocational education, 1,176 are area schools.

For each type of school, a total figure is provided and then the number of area schools included in that total. Table 2 presents totals for public schools (by Federal, State, and local control) and for private schools (with religious sponsorship and other). Table 3 summarizes the number of schools offering special vocational services to students. Table 4 indicates how many schools offer one or more programs in each of seven main program categories. Each table provides data by States, the District of Columbia, and outlying areas.
